L O N D O N, March 19.

Extract of a letter from London, dated March 17th. Letters from Marseilles and Toulon mention, that orders had just been received there for the immediate equipment of several ships of war and transports, but the place of their destination is not yet known.

"Wilkes and liberty are almost extinct, he is quite aground in the poll; and tho' the streets have rung with liberty for some time, the poor champion this very day, at Guild-hall, lost that liberty he boasted of giving to others, by being arrested for debt." [This was a lie.]

We hear that during the poll at Guildhall, on Saturday last, a gentleman asked Mr. Wilkes, with a sneer, 'Whether he was not tired with standing? To which the latter cheerfully replied, 'Not in the least, Sir; I am determined to stand to the last, and then I shall get a seat.'

It is said, that a noble E——l's friendship for a certain popular gentleman is so great, that he has declared he would spend fifty thousand pounds sooner than he should be disappointed of a seat in a certain august assembly.

The following is handed to us as a letter from John Wilkes, to a great personage.

SIRE,

"I BEG thus to throw myself at your M——y's feet and supplicate the mercy and Clemency which shines with such lustre among your Princely Virtues.

"Some former Ministers, whom your M——y, in Condescension to the wishes of your people, thought proper to remove, employed every wicked and deceitful art to oppress your subjects, and to avenge their own personal cause on him, whom they imagined to be the principal author of bringing to public view, their ignorance, insufficiency and treachery, to your M——y and the Nation.

"I have been the innocent and unhappy victim of revenge. I was forced by their injustice and violence into exile, which I have never ceased to consider, for many years, as the most cruel oppression; because I could not longer be under the benign influence of your M——y, in the Land of Liberty.

"With a heart full of zeal for the service of your M——y and my country, I implore, Sire, your clemency. My only hopes of pardon are founded in the great goodness and benevolence of your M——y; and every day of Freedom you may be graciously pleased to permit me the enjoyment of, in my dear native land, shall give proofs of my zeal and attachment to your service. J. WILKES."

Great numbers of the Freeholders of Middlesex, we hear intend going to Brentford in their coaches, and put up at the inn provided by the old members, it being lawful, according to all the rules of war, to live at free quarters upon the enemy.

March 28. Saturday, at Kingston, precisely at seven o'clock in the morning, the trial of the Right Hon. Lord Baltimore came on, which lasted nineteen hours and a half, when he was acquitted of the charge laid against him, to the satisfaction in general of the Court.

March 29. Last Saturday Lord Baltimore was tried at the assizes holden for Surry, before the hon. Mr. Baron Smythe, for a rape upon Sarah Woodcock, and acquitted; and at the same time Mrs. Griffinburg, and Mrs. Harvey, were tried as accessories to that felony, and also acquitted. The trial begun about seven in the morning, and continued till near three next morning.

The late remarkable trial of ——— and two women, came on exactly at half past seven in the morning, and lasted till three the next morning. Twelve out of twenty four jurymen were objected to by the prisoners. In the course of the trial, the Whoever takes up and secures said servant, in any of his Majesty's gaols, so that his master may have him again, shall have the above reward paid by me, ISAAC CLARKE.

upon the first of the month, and that on her arrival at the country house, she was peremptorily told by the two women, that she must at all events that night go to bed to ———, that she was forcibly undressed by them, and put to bed to him accordingly. That afterwards in the state of despair in which she found herself, she consented to whatever was desired of her, except what was criminal. Upon the return of the jury, ——— was ordered to hold up his hand, and the foreman answered to the usual question, not guilty. Upon the same question being put concerning the first woman, the foreman answered, guilty; but their verdict, of not guilty, including all the three prisoners, they were all acquitted.

Another prosecution is carrying on in the same cause for the seduction only, which will be tried in the court of King's-Bench.

Mrs W—— was under examination four hours and an half, and afterwards cross examined two hours; during all which time her testimony was the most consistent, steady, and sensible; that ever was known, which drew tears from many of the audience.

L O N D O N, March 31.

To the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of M I D D L E S E X.

GENTLEMEN,

MOST gratefully sensible of those generous and patriotic principles which have induced you to elect me your Representative in Parliament, I intreat you to accept of my best endeavours to express the joy which inspires me on so interesting, so affecting an occasion. The personal regard you have shewn me, indeed, confers on me an obligation, the due sense of which I too cordially feel to find words to describe. I cannot, however, forbear congratulating you, as the most distinguished of Englishmen, on the honourable proof you have given, that the genuine spirit of independency, the true love of our country (for which the county of Middlesex has for ages been so eminently conspicuous) still glow in your breasts with unremitting ardour, still shines forth with undiminished lustre. Let the sons of venality bow the knee to the idol of sordid interest. Let them call their pusillanimity prudence, while they ignominiously kiss the rod of power, and tamely stoop to the yoke, which artful Ministers insidiously prepare, and arbitrarily impose. You, Gentlemen, have shewn, that you are neither to be deceived nor enslaved.

In proving yourselves enemies to ministerial persecution, the eyes of the whole kingdom, of the whole world, are upon you, as the first and firmest defenders of public liberty. Happy shall I think myself if fired by your example, the efforts of my warmest zeal may be deemed an adequate return for the favours you have bestowed on me; but however inefficient my abilities, my will to serve you is unbounded as it is unalterable. Engaged as I have long been in the glorious cause of freedom, I beg you to consider my past conduct as an earnest of the future, and to look on me as a man, whose primary views will ever regard the rights and privileges of his fellow countrymen in general, and whose secondary views shall be attentively fixed on the dignity, advantage and prosperity of the county of Middlesex. Let me therefore desire of you Gentlemen, to favour me from time to time with such instructions as may best enable me to accomplish those ends; resting assured of always finding me devoted to your service, and that the happiest moments of my life will be those in which I am employed in maintaining the civil and religious rights of Englishmen, and in promoting the interest of my constituents. I am with the truest respect, Gentlemen, your obliged and faithful humble servant,
Tuesday, March 20. JOHN WILKES.

Lord Baltimore's defence read to the Court and Jury, upon his trial at Kingston in Surry, on Saturday the 26th instant, taken in Court by a gentleman present.

My Lord, and Gentlemen,

"I have put myself upon my country, confident that prejudice and clamour will avail nothing in this place, where it is the privilege of the meanest of the king's subjects to be presumed to be innocent until his guilt has been made appear by legal evidence. I wish I could say, that I have been treated abroad with the same candour; I have been loaded with obloquy; the most malignant libels have been circulated, and every other method that malice could devise, has been taken to create a general prejudice against me. I thank God that under such circumstances I have had firmness and resolution enough to meet my accusers face to face, and provoke an inquiry into my conduct. Hic murus abacus esto, conspire sibi.

"The charge against me, and against these poor people, who are involved with me, because they might otherwise have been witnesses for me, is, in its nature, easy to be made, and hard to be disproved. The accuser has the advantage of supporting it by direct and positive evidence: The defence can only be collected from circumstances, of circumstances, all tending to shew the fallacy of this charge, the absurdity of it, the impossibility that it can be true. It will be laid before the Jury by evidence, under the direction of my Counsel and I have the confidence of an innocent man, that it will manifest to your Lordship the Jury, and the whole world, that the story told by this woman is a perversion of the truth, and a mere invention.

"What could induce this woman to make such a charge I can only suspect.—Very soon after she came to my house, upon her representation to me that her father was distressed, I sent him a considerable sum of money: whether the ease with which that money was obtained from me might suggest this idea, as a means of obtaining a larger sum of money; or whether it was thought necessary to destroy me, in order to re-establish the character of the girl with the world, I know not; but I do aver upon the word of a Man of Honour, that there is no truth in any thing which has been said or sworn of my having offered violence to this girl. I ever held such brutality in abhorrence. May I be allowed, to add, without offending against that decorum which ought to be observed here, that, as a man of pleasure, I am in opinion against all force. I should not have introduced this sentiment if it had not been pertinent to the subject. Other opinions on other subjects, no way relating to this charge, have been imputed, and falsely imputed to me to inflame this accusation. Libertine as I may have been represented, I hold no such opinions; and considering the debility of my constitution, it is not only a moral but a physical impossibility for me to have ravished this woman, who is stronger than I am. Much has been urged against me upon that of having seduced her from her parents and friends. Seduction is not the point of this charge; but I do assure your Lordship and the jury, that this part of the case has been aggravated exceedingly beyond the truth. If I have been in any degree to blame, I am sure I have very sufficiently atoned for every indiscretion, which a weak attachment to this unworthy woman may have led me into, by having suffered the disgrace of being exposed as a criminal at the bar, in the county which my father had the honour to represent in parliament, and where, if this sort of an active life had been my object, my own rank and fortune gave me some pretensions to have attained the same honour. I will take up no more of your Lordship's time than to add, that if I had been conscious of the guilt now imputed to me, I could have kept myself and my fortune out of the reach of the laws of this country. I am a citizen of the world, and could have lived any where; but I love my country, and submit to its laws: and resolving that my innocence should be justified by the laws, I now, by my own voluntarily act, by surrendering myself to the Court of King's-Bench, stake upon the verdict of twelve men my life and fortune, and, what is dearer to me than either, my honour."

B O S T O N, May 23.

The jurisdiction of the court of vice admiralty at Halifax, is, by a new act of parliament to be abridged, and three other courts established, at Boston, Philadelphia, and Charles-Town, the judges whereof are to have handsome appointments, not to rise from fees or condemnation.

Last Wednesday a Sloop belonging to Mr. John De Grave, of Poughkeepsie, took Fire near that Place, on the Voyage home, with 16 Passengers on board, and was burnt to the Water Edge, and notwithstanding there were two Canoes astern, the Fire was so quick and fierce, that two of the People were much burnt before they could free themselves of the Vessel.

Until he leaves this City, he continues at Mr. John Watson's, in the House wherein Capt. Randal lately liv'd, near White-Hall Slip, and will wait on them on receiving their Commands.—He prevents Teeth from growing rotten, keeps such as are decay'd a long Time from becoming worse; also cures the Scurvy in the Gums, be it ever so bad, first cleanses and Seales the Teeth from that corrosive tartarous gritty Substance, which hinders the Gums from growing, infects the Breath, and is one of the principal Causes of the Scurvy, (and if not timely prevented) eats away the Gums; so that many People's Teeth fall out freely. He fills up with Lead or Gold, those that are hollow, (so as to render them useful) and prevent the Air getting into them, which aggravates the Pain. He makes artificial Teeth, with an Enamel on the out Side, and fixes them with pure Gold, so that they will remain fast for many Years, and may eat, drink and sleep, with them in their Mouths as natural ones, from which they cannot be discovered by the sharpest Eye. He displaces Teeth or Stumps, after the best and easiest Method, he they ever so deep sunk into the Socket of the Gums, He has given sufficient Proof of his superior Judgment in this Art, to the principal Nobility, Gentry, and others, of Great-Britain, France, Ireland, and other principal Places in Europe; also to upwards of Two Thousand Persons in the Town of Boston.

An assortment of Dutch tiles. 26 29

New-York, May 30, 1768.

WHEREAS one Elizabeth Harrison, (an indentured servant to Mr. John Ramsey, of this city merchant) on Sunday last, came to me (wife of Thomas Clay, a soldier in his Majesty's 16th regiment) told me that she had disobliged her master, and desired me to intercede with him on her behalf, and gave me the counter part of her indentures, which she desired me to keep for her.—As I was just going to church, (my husband and son being from home) I left the room in her care till my return from church,—when I found she had lock'd the door, was gone off with the key, and had robbed the room of the following goods and money, viz.

One red and white, and 1 purple and white chintz gowns, 1 striped linen, and 1 dark ground callico short gowns; 4 new check aprons, 2 plain, 1 cross barred lawn aprons; 5 mens, 4 boys shirts, of new Irish linen at 3s. 6d. a yard; 5 shifts of new Irish linen at 2s. 2d. a yard; 7 pair of womens fine linen sleeves; 16 womens caps of fine linen, with thin borders, one of them has a large iron mould on one side, near the bottom; 1 black small figured silk cloth, had been torn on the left shoulder, and mended with blue thread, the head border'd with silk lace and lined with silk, the rest lined with black tammey; 1 white Barcelona silk handkerchief, with pale and deep red borders; 1 cross barred purple flowered gauze handkerchief; 2 check linen handkerchiefs; 1 pair mens plain gray, 2 pair cotton stockings; 4 pair womens blue worsted do. 3 pair boys cotton hose mark'd T. C. all quite new; 2 pair mens new shoes, 1 pair womens callimanco do. 1 pair leather pumps a little worn; 1 large silver table spoons, mark'd M. C. 1 silver milk or cream pot, mark'd M. C. within the hoop of the handle; 1 large silver salt cellar on 3 feet, a human face on each, and mark'd M. C. on the bottom, near one of them; 4 silver tea spoons, not mark'd, the ends of the handles rather broader than common; 1 large plain gold ring, mark'd B. M. coast a guinea; 1 pair large square wrought silver shoe buckles, mark'd T. C. cost 40s. in this city; sundry ribbons, child's clothes and other small things. Also, sundry paper money bills, among which was a New-Jersey- 30s. bill, the whole amounting to 11 dollars; small silver and coppers amounting to 1 dollar, and 20 Spanish dollars, most of them milled. Whoever secures the said Elizabeth Harrison, so that she may be brought to justice, shall receive Three Dollars reward, and all reasonable charges; and whoever will stop and secure the said goods or any of them, or give intelligence of them so that the owner may get them again, shall be thankfully rewarded for their trouble.

Elizabeth Harrison is a tall lusty woman, seems to be between 20 and 30 years of age, pale fallow complexion, dark hair, parted on the forehead; came from Liverpool, has been brought up to farming business, and has been but little used to the needle; she had on a yellow petticoat and white short gown. It is hoped that no person will be so unjust as to carry off, harbour or conceal her, or any of the goods she has stolen.—Inquire at the house of Mr. Oyler, next door to the house Major James lived in, back of the college. 26 29 MARGARET CLAY.

ONE HALF (being all that Part owned by Mary Behenna) of BIG BEARN (commonly called BEHENNA'S) ISLAND, at Hell-gate, containing One Hundred Acres of rich arable, and pasture land, about twenty acres of excellent fresh, with a few acres of salt meadow, and upwards of twenty acres of good wood land, in the whole one hundred and fifty acres, all in good fence, and well watered, even in the driest time, a fine large orchard, with a large number of the very best grafted fruit trees, and commands a beautiful prospect of the sound, &c. There is on it a very neat and genteel dwelling house, fronting the water, with a long piazza, from whence there is an agreeable view down the east river, near as far as New-York, and of all the ships, boats, &c. which pass and repass from thence through Hell-gate. It has three rooms on a floor, a fire place in each, a dairy room and store room, with a Negro house adjoining; contiguous to the house is a large garden, elegantly laid out and well known for its beauty, affording a variety of the choicest fruits, berries of every kind, English walnuts, asparagus, &c. in great plenty. The said part of the island has on it some good stone quarries, from which may be had a sufficient quantity of stones for fencing the lands, and the ground is sown with the usual quantity of grain, as wheat, Indian corn, &c. At a small distance from the dwelling house, there is a very convenient still-house, standing near the water, at a good landing, with a good still, (little or nothing worse than new) containing eight hundred gallons, a worm, tub, cisterns, pumps, and all utensils necessary for a distillery.

Any person inclining to buy the same at private sale, before the above date, may apply to David Jones, in new Dutch church-street, or to Mary Behenna on the premises, who will shew the same, and give an indisputable title.

N. B. Good security will be taken for a very considerable part of the purchase money. New-York, June 1, 1768. 26 30

POETS CORNER.

Flushing, May 21, 1768.

Mr Holt, Sir,

If you have room in your next Poet's Corner, be pleased to insert the following Verses, taken out of an old Book, entitled G. Joys Innocency's Complaint, which will fully prove what was asserted in the pretended Quakers Letter to the American Whig, in Parker's Paper not long ago, a gross Falshood, and you'll oblige your constant Customer.

FAIR-PLAY.

THE making laws for to enslave the just,
"Of God is hated, and to be accurst;
"The Massachusetts, is alike for crime,
"Unto Judea in Christ Jesus' time:
"Here laws are extant, that doth terrify
"Well meaning men, and liberty deny:
"Here innocents are fined, whipp'd and branded,
"Ears cropp'd, some sold for slaves, some lath'd,
"some hanged.
"Who ever is contrary to them found,
"Tho' in his spirit, their fine must be five Pound.
"Or else three days in Gaol, ere a discharge,
"And with a ten lath'd whipping be enlarg'd.
"Those that in conscience cannot wrong a worm,
"Are fin'd and whipp'd, because they can't conform.
"And time hath been, which ne'er shall be forgot,
"God's servants have been hang'd, none knows for
"Except for serving of their bleis'd Lord, [what;
"For quaking and for trembling at his word.
"Let these black days, like the fifth of November,
"Be writ in red, for ages to remember.
"Admire, oh heavens; be earth astonish'd,
"At this profuse expence of guiltless blood.
"In such a cafe where nothing is concern'd,
"But a religion they in scripture learn'd;
"Christ's own command, the Apostles' approbation,
"All good men's care, our wife King's toleration.
"Why should mens liberties be thus abridg'd,
"And conscience hindered in what's privileg'd?
"Had they complied with a wicked Law,
"And of a whipping stood in common aw,
"Five pounds their tender backs had saved, so
"They had been free from stripes, to stay or go:
"Nay, were they criminal, enlarg'd they'd been;
"New-England's laws admits of buying sin.
"But for obedient service to their God,
"Thust to be beaten with the scourging rod!—
"Their blood doth cry, and loud for vengeance call,
"Tho' they do heartily forgive them all.
"Twelve innocents without ere guilt or crime,
"With cruel whips were scourged at one time;
"And six days after, fifteen more, by force,
"Were beaten like the first—without remorse.
"Seven tender women, young and old were stripp'd
"All naked to the waste, and cruelly whipp'd;
"Immodest action, greatest wrong, with shame,
"Which never will be clear from guilt or blame!
"And twenty men, well bred of good descent,
"Fit for Admittants to their government;
"Each of such good report and high repute,
"Their foes could not accuse them, but were mute:
"only a law unjust, forbid their meeting,
"To serve the Lord, and whips must be their greeting."

Further Advice by Captains Green and Lawrence, from London; (left out of our last for want of Room.)

L O N D O N, March 28.
THERE was so great a Number of Nobility and Gentry at Kingston on Saturday last, that the Streets of the Town were filled with their Carriages; and it being Market Day, the Trades-people had much Difficulty to erect Stalls to carry on their Business.

March 29. We hear that Sir William Trelawney, Bart. will set out this week for Portsmouth, to embark on board the Jason man of war for Jamaica, of which place he is appointed Governor. Some letters from Leghorn say, it was currently reported there, that a body of English troops were expected to arrive about the month of June next in Corsica.

Yesterday morning Sir W. B. Proctor, Mr. Cooke, and Mr. Wilkes, the candidates for the county of Middlesex, set out for Brentford, when the election came on for Knights of the Shire for that county: The latter was in a coach drawn by six long tail horses, and was attended by an amazing number of people to the place of election, which was held in the middle of Brentford Butts, a temporary booth being erected there for that purpose, in which were fifteen poll books, one for each division.

The candidates were put up at half an hour past eleven o'clock, when the shew of hands was almost general for Mr. Wilkes, and for Sir William Beauchamp Proctor there was a very great shew, but for Mr. Cooke very few; whereupon the two former were declared to have the majority; but a poll being demanded by the friends of Mr. Cooke, the same began at one o'clock, and it was agreed that the books should be closed at eight.

Last night at the close of the poll, the numbers were, For Mr. Wilkes, 1213
Sir Wm. Beauchamp Proctor, 749
Mr. Cooke, 645

This morning the poll was agreed to be opened again, and finally to close at two.

The infatuation for Wilkes was so great, that every person was obliged to declare for him, and have blue cockades, before they were admitted to poll.

The mob behaved in a very outrageous manner at Hyde-Park Corner, where they pelted Mr. Cooke, son of the City-Marshal, and knocked him from his horse, took off the wheels of one of the carriages, cut the harness, and broke the glasses to pieces; several other carriages, with the Friends of Meliss. Proctor and Cooke, were greatly damaged. The reason assigned for these proceedings is, that a flag was carried before the procession of Mr. Wilkes's antagonists, on which was painted 'No Blasphemer.'

A prodigious concourse of people assembled at Brentford, who would not suffer any coaches to enter the town without 'No. 45,' and the words 'Wilkes and Liberty on them.'

Several flags were flying with the motto, More meat and fewer Cocks.

A liveryman of London asking a friend of Mr. Wilkes, whether he thought it would not have been more prudent for Mr. Wilkes to have thrown up the poll sooner, as by carrying it on to the end, he shewed how small a part of the livery he had on his side? He turned it off with a smile, and said, "Mr. Wilkes only wanted to have it in his power to say, that there were above 1000 honest men in London."

'Tis computed that no less than forty seven lives have been already lost by the general election.

'Tis thought there will be more complaints to parliament, on account of improper returns at the present election, than have been known since the revolution.

Letters from Leghorn mention, that a fresh misunderstanding had happened between the Genoese and Corsicans, on occasion of the former refusing to deliver up certain prisoners claimed by the latter.

March 31. They write from New-York, that a plan has lately been proposed to surround the city with regular fortifications, which it was expected would be likewise adopted by the cities of Boston and Philadelphia.

The Lady-Mayores was in bed when the riot began at the mansion-house on Monday night; her chamber windows were broke to pieces, and her Ladyship was obliged to retire to another room.

March 29. About nine o'clock last night, upon the return of the pollers from Brentford, the mobli-ty grew extremely riotous and tumultuous in the Strand and Fleet-street; where the inhabitants, in obedience to their commands, very expeditiously and brilliantly illuminated their houses, which, at that hour, had reached as far as the Fleet-market.

By letters from the isle of Rouge there is advice, that General Paoli, after examining the dock-yards, was gone to San Pellegrino, where a fort is now building, which will not be inferior to that of Baglagna. The same letters add, that a national assembly will be held in the Easter week at Corte; and that in July the troops of France will be relieved by those of another power.

The Gloucester, —, from New England, is arrived at Waterford, with the loss of her rudder.

Yesterday Lord B — came in his chariot to the Bank, where he staid near two hours. Numbers of people, who got intelligence of his being there, stood waiting to see his Lordship come out; but he disappointed them all, by going out the back way, where he privately got into his chariot and drove away.

By letters from different parts of Kent, we hear that they have had very large quantities of snow fallen within this fortnight past.

MARCH 31.
It is reported that it was an agreed point, that one of the old candidates at a late election should have a majority of pollers over the other, in order to keep his seat in Parliament; and that the latter is to be gratified with a Peerage, which is immediately to take place.

It is remarkable that the number of the worthy Freeholders of the county of Middlesex, who polled for Mr. Wilks at Brentford, were exactly forty-five more than the independent Liverymen of the city of London, who voted for that gentleman at Guildhall. The numbers stands thus on the books.

Extract of a letter from Plockzko. March 5.

"The Commissioners of the Republic had proposed to assign each of the Marshalls of the two Confederacies, a sum of 100,000 florins, in consideration of the great expence they had been at to discharge their employs with dignity; but the latter nobly excused themselves from accepting any retribution or recompence, alledging, that in all their endeavours for the public good they never had in view to be of charge to the State, much less to seek any interest of their own at the expence of their fellow-citizens; that they are happy in having served their country to advantage, and sufficiently satisfied with the success of their labours. In return for this unexampled patriotism and disinterestedness, it has been resolved to return them thanks in the Republic, and to preserve the same in the name of the crown."

The King of Prussia has wrote a complimentary letter to the Empress of Russia concerning a plan for a new code of laws, which has been drawn up by her Imperial Majesty, and lately remitted to the Prussian Monarch. In the dispatches to his Minister at Petersburg, which accompanied this letter, his Prussian Majesty writes thus: "I have read with admiration the work of the Empress. I have not been willing to say all that I thought, because the might suspect me of flattery: but to you I may say, without offence to modesty, that it is a masculine, nervous performance, and worthy of a great man. History tells us that Semiramis commanded armies; that Queen Elizabeth passed for a good politician; that the Empress-Queen shewed great firmness at the commencement of her reign; but we have never yet heard of any female being a lawgiver: this glory was reserved for the Empress of Russia."

We hear from Germany, that Count Isenburg had raised two regiments of infantry for the King of Spain, and engaged several officers, which are upon half pay.

Extract of a letter from Paisley (Scotland) March 24.

"We have often been amused in the public papers, with accounts of mobs and combinations of journeymen of different trades in London, Edinburgh, and Glasgow, refusing to work unless their matters advanced their wages, but we have gone a step beyond them, by forming a female combination, which has been entered into by the young women of this place, employed in clipping of lawns, who refuse to work, unless on higher wages. They, in number between two and three hundred, mostly clothed in white, drew up this day at Maxwelltown, and marched in procession, four in a rank, to this place, and paraded through the streets; this white regiment was escorted by great crowds of journeymen weavers and others."

For the Public Advertiser.
THE Reign of Humour, Wit and Sense, is over!
When did it end?—When Yorick was no more.

The following paragraph was inserted in the Public Advertiser and Public Ledger of yesterday, March 30,

"The villainous and shameful misrepresentation of the trial at Kingston (published in the Gazetteer of yesterday) is a scandal to this country, and to human nature. The strict veracity of the innocent young woman's evidence, will soon be set forth in its true light, by another Trial, in another Court."

On JOHN WILKES, Esq; offering himself a Candidate for the County of Middlesex.

FIR'd with a truly patriotic Zeal;
For thee, dear WILKES, and for my Country's Weal,

What strange Emotions in my Breast I feel!
Hope, Joy, and Fear, alternate take their Course,
Each rushing on me with resistless Force;
For well I know fair Liberty's bright Laws
Rest on the Fate of thine and Britain's Cause:
Now is the Crisis of Old England's Fate,
Freedom or Slavery her Sons Choice await.
Unknown to you, no partial Views can sway,
No venal Heart directs this artless Lay.
Then rouse, ye Britons! and support the Man,
Who for his Country's Good all Dangers ran;
Shew to succeeding Ages, as they rise,
How greatly you that lawless Pow'r despise;
Which would subvert your Laws and Liberties.

By Letters from London we learn, that the Bill brought into Parliament for the Recovery of Penalties and Forfeitures in America, establishes four Courts of Vice-Admiralty on this Continent, viz. at Charlestown, New-York or Philadelphia, Boston, and Halifax, which are to have original Jurisdiction in and over the particular Districts of Colonies assigned to each; and in Cases of Proceedings had in the Admiralty Courts already established, are to hear and determine upon Appeal from the Judgments or Decrees of such Courts, within the respective Jurisdictions assigned. The present Appointment of the Court at Halifax over all North America is to cease and determine after passing the new Bill, Messrs. Garth, Charles, Montague, Franklin, De Lancey, and other Colony Agents had a Meeting, on the Bill being ordered to be brought in, when finding that no new Extension of Power was intended, but only to reduce the Extent of Jurisdiction of the Court at Halifax, giving to the others the same Power, but more confined in Jurisdiction, for the ease of both Crown and People, they concluded that any Application against it would be unnecessary, as well as improper. The Appointments of the Judges are to be such as to engage Gentlemen of Sciences and Abilities to execute the Office, and are not to arise from Fees or Condemnations.
